
POWERS & SONS AWARDED TRC SENIOR VILLAGE

The Renaissance Collaborative has awarded the construction of this seven story load bearing precast and masonry structure to Powers & Sons Construction Company, Inc. The building will be the first phase of a three phase senior village project to be constructed by this community service organization. The building will be comprised of 70 single residency units that will help house the aging population on the City of Chicago's near South side. This building will incorporate several green building elements and is pursuing a LEED Certification. The project is scheduled to be complete by August 2010.
